Class Syllabus
2009-2010

INSTRUCTOR: Sheryl Dunham

This course covers people and places of the contemporary world. In conjunction with TEA guidelines, societies selected for study are chosen from the following regions of the world: Europe, Russia and the Eurasian republics, North America, Middle America, South America, Southwest Asia-North Africa, Sub-Saharan Africa, South Asia, East Asia, Southeast Asia, Australia, and the Pacific Realm. Students describe the influence of individuals and groups on historical and contemporary events in those societies and identify the locations and geographic characteristics of selected societies. Students identify different ways of organizing economic and governmental systems. The concepts of limited and unlimited government are introduced, and students describe the nature of citizenship in various societies. Students study and compare government, education, and religious institutions that are common to all societies. Students explain how the level of technology affects the development of the selected societies and identify different points of view about selected events. This course will also focus on biblical principles and Christian history that are interwoven throughout the history of the world.
